When faith calls, it transforms—and for Apostle Moreblessing Bishi, that transformation took her from the glamorous world of modeling to the spiritual realm of ministry.

Now, her remarkable journey is the subject of an upcoming documentary biopic, Grace on the Catwalk: The Apostle's Story, and she's seeking $10,000 in funding to bring her story to life.

Apostle Moreblessing, who founded Christ Jesus International Ministries in 2020 before relocating to the UK, hopes the film will inspire viewers with its message of personal growth and the transformative power of faith.

“The goal of this documentary is to showcase how faith reshaped my life and to encourage others to embrace their own journeys,” she said with a warm smile.

The hour-long film will feature Apostle Moreblessing as the lead actress, with celebrated filmmaker Eddie Ndhlovu producing.

It blends candid interviews with key figures from her past—school friends, mentors, and colleagues—with her heartfelt reflections. “No one can tell my story better than me,” she chuckled.

The documentary traces her evolution from a teenage musician with two singles, “Without You” and “Thank You My Lord,” to an actress in Zimbabwe’s iconic soap Studio 263, and finally, to a trailblazing Apostle.

“My path was never linear. There were highs and lows, but each step prepared me for my calling,” she shared.

What sets this project apart is its honesty. Apostle Moreblessing promises a raw, heartfelt portrayal of her struggles, triumphs, and ultimate spiritual awakening. She hopes to inspire not just people of faith, but also those intrigued by fashion, modeling, and personal transformation.

Slated for completion in 2025 with a grand premiere in the UK, this film is a labor of love. “Making a film is no small task, but with the right team and support, it’s possible,” she said, appealing to well-wishers to help bring her story to the screen.

From the catwalk to the pulpit, Apostle Moreblessing Bishi’s journey is one you won’t want to miss.
